

helps children exercise their extremities by petting him, throwing balls for him to retrieve, and other activities.

In addition, Jack is helpful with speech therapy because he's trained to respond to verbal commands. "Tell him to do something, and he'll do it," said Mikel. Jack works with children as young as six months old and adults up through 25 years of age.

Although he doesn't wear a cell phone, Jack is on duty seven days a week. "He's always on call with Child-Serve," Mikel said. "So whenever someone needs us, we go. It's kind of like the towing business."

Although Jack might not realize how many lives he improves on a daily basis, Mikel and his towing staff are well aware of how a little love from a caring pet can make the difference. "Even when we've had a hard day," said Mikel, "Jack gives us something to care about." ❄
